DR. CHARLES E. COATES
Who will receive the Herty Day Medal this year.

Coates, Herty Speakers For Herty Day

Final plans for the celebration of Herty Day on May 14 have been completed. Martha Koebly, president of the Chemistry Club at G. S. C. W., announced today. The feature of the day will be the awarding of the Herty medal for outstanding chemical achievement in the South to Dr. Charles E. Coates of Louisiana State University.

Several prominent speakers have been scheduled to make addresses on the Herty Day program. Dr. Paul Weber of Georgia Tech, Chairman of the Georgia Section of the American Chemical Society, Dr. J. S. Guy of Emory University, Dr. Charles Herty, in whose honor the celebration is held, and Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of G. S. C. W. will be speakers on the program. Many prominent chemists from Georgia and adjacent states are expected to attend the Herty Day celebration.

Dr. L. C. Lindsley of the Chemistry department at G. S. C. W. will entertain with a tea at Westover from four to six on the afternoon of the fourteenth. At 6:30, a dinner will be given in the Mansion for the visitors. The award will be made at 8:30 in the G. S. C. W. auditorium. The program for the presentation of the award will be: Welcome—Dr. (Continued on back page)

Street Dance To Be Led By Dorm Presidents

Complete plans for the Mansion Centennial street dance announced today by Dr. Dawson feature the ticket selling contest, and the subsequent winner's reward.

The sale of tickets will be promoted as a contest between dormitories, the dormitory having the highest sales percentage to receive the prize. The prize will be the privilege of having a no-break restricted to the members of the dormitory and their dates. The lead-out will be led by the president of the winning dormitory. Others in the lead-out will be Governor Rivers' daughter and the presidents of the other dormitories.

Sam Pair's Augmented orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. It will be girl-break, with three no-breaks.

Tickets will be sold by girls in all of the dormitories. Students will be charged fifty cents for tickets.

Editorial Work Of Colonnade Wins Trophy

For outstanding editorial accomplishment during 1937-38, the Colonnade was awarded the Cobb County Times Trophy last Saturday at the annual meeting of the Georgia Collegiate Press Association held this year at Brenau College in Gainesville April 29-30.

The award is made yearly by Mr. Chess Abernathy, editor of the Cobb County Times in Marietta. The award went last year to the Emory Wheel, and year before last to the University of Georgia's Red and Black.

Mr. Abernathy, in announcing the recipient of the award through a letter, said that the trophy was presented this year to the Colonnade mainly on the strength of the "out-spoken and frank manner in which the editorial column has been conducted."

The trophy was presented to Lucy Caldwell, editor of the Colonnade, by Dr. Cecilia Brigham, head of the department of Journalism at Brenau, at the closing luncheon of the G. C. P. A. on Saturday.

Y Names Soph Commission For 1938-39

Members of Sophomore Commission for 1938-39 were chosen at the elections held this week. Twenty regular members were chosen, and five ex-officio members named.

The newly elected members are: Julia Merle Stewart, Marjorie Edwards, Betty Sheppard, Catherine Boynton, Catherine Bowman, Rose Spears, Frances Wilkie, Jane Elizabeth Elarbee, Ann Hall, Douglas Mercer, Margaret Pitts, Harriet Chick, Polly Prather, Nell Bryan, Rose Newman, Jeanette Almand, Ruth Shapiro, and Harriet Shooks.

Serving ex-officio are: Jane McConnell, Hortense Fountain, Ruby Donald, Madeline Blackwelder, and Catherine Combs.

The Y, in announcing the members of Commission for next year, emphasized the fact there is definite work in the Y for Sophomores who are not on Sophomore Commission.

Mansion's Story Portrayed In Pageant Friday

"History hath triumphed over time" wrote Sir Walter Raleigh, and we shall see this very statement proved by the colorful pageant of the "Mansion's Hundred Years," which is being presented on May 13, in connection with the Mansion centennial. The play was written by Miss Katherine Scott.

The pageant opens with a prologue, which is to be read by Mrs. Noah. The play then goes to the building of the Mansion and deals with its importance during the Civil War and its significance as an educational center. We find little episodes of marriage, death, birth, and all the commonplace things which go to make up life featured throughout the pageant.

The cast includes a great number of the town people, faculty and students.

Those serving on committees are as follows: Dr. G. H. Wells; Miss Grubb and Mrs. Noah, directors; Mrs. J. L. Beeson, Miss Grubb, Miss K. K. Scott, casting committee; Miss Mamie Padgett, programs; Miss Duttler, costumes; Dr. Manchester, Miss Kitzinger, Miss Andrews, Miss Jennings, ballets; Mr. Noah and Mr. D'Andrea, Music.

Antoine and Melton To Be Features Of 38-39 Concerts

With the concert season for this year barely over, plans for next year's program are already completed. As has already been announced, James Melton, Georgia-born tenor of movie, radio and concert fame, will be an outstanding feature of the series. The other artists who will appear are Josephine Antoine, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Iso Briselli, a famous young violinist, and Lisa Parnova, dancer.

Garbutt Named Delegate To N. I. C. C.

Margaret Garbutt, president of the Y, has been selected as a delegate to the National Intercollegiate Christian Council meeting, May 5-10 in St. Louis, Missouri.

The N. I. C. C. is the executive body of the National Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Student Volunteer Groups. Each year fourteen students are chosen from the United States as members of this Planning Committee meeting.

Margaret was chosen as one of fourteen delegates.

Miss G S C W Verbalizes On Beauty As Contest Nears

By Miss G. S. C. W.

"Who's the most beautiful girl on this campus and why am I? I will be selected from the class beauties next Wednesday night at the Senior Play, 'Hearts and Gowns'."

"Those who will compete with me for the prize are: Freshmen—Ethel Lind Jordan, Sue Morris, Betty Sheppard; Sophomores—Martha Pool, Emily Shealey, Lella Griffith; Juniors—Emily Speight, Emily Jordan, Margaretta McGavock; Seniors—Rachel Persons, Lena Lovett, Frances Adair.

"The Beauty Contest will take place during the Style Show. They tell me that they are modeling some of the most adorable play-suits, not to mention street clothes and the most exquisite evening gowns. I can hardly wait to see the 'Dream of Love Gown' that all the seniors are talking about. I really think that the Style Show will be one of the main features of the play.

"I know that you have heard about the plot of the play. The seniors won't tell us much, but what has leaked out sounds interesting. I wonder what happens to Delphine Dunn, and if she gets to wear the 'Dream of Love Gown'. It seems as if

Seniors Prepare for Their Exit By Celebrating Senior Week

Y Sponsors and Cabinet For 38-39 Named

The appointments of twenty-four Freshman Sponsors and supplementary appointments to Y. W. C. A. Cabinet were made by the Executive Committee of the Y on May 3.

The group of twenty-four Freshman sponsors was selected to initiate the re-organized Freshman work of the Y for the next year. The Freshman Class will be divided into 24 groups, each of which will have an upperclassman as Sponsor. Each group will meet weekly throughout the year, for meetings similar to those of the Freshman Council previously elected by the Freshman Class in October. Each of the groups will select a chairman, who will be the representative of that group to the body to be known as Freshman Council, which will be responsible for the guiding and aiding the activities.

"HEARTS AND GOWNS" TO CLIMAX SENIOR WEEK

Mid-day Dinner Main Event At Parents' Day

Final plans for the Celebration of Parent's Day to be held next Friday have been completed, according to announcement from the Granddaughter's Club today.

A number of distinguished guests will be present. Governor Rivers, Chancellor S. V. Sanford, and the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia will be present, but will not make speeches, said Sue Simpson, president of the Granddaughter's Club.

The days activities will be: Registration of parents in the dormitories beginning at 9 o'clock.

Open House will be held in all dormitories during the morning. Families are invited to visit in the students' rooms.

During the morning, parents are invited to visit classes. The chapel program at 10:30 will be in charge of the Granddaughter's Club. Music will be furnished by the G. S. C. W. orchestra, and Milledgeville College Choir. Speakers on the program will be student members of the Granddaughter's Club.

The morning will be concluded by a dinner on the campus given by the college.

The officers of the Granddaughter's Club are: President, Sue Simpson, Vice President, Saralyn Wooten, Secretary, Suzanne Tolbert, and Treasurer, Edith Harber. The faculty advisor of the Club is Miss Blanche Tate.

G. C. P. A. Elects Donaldson New Secretary

G. S. C. W. delegates to the Georgia Collegiate Press Association which was held in Gainesville, April 29-30, came back with one or two sprigs, at least, out of the laurel crown. The election of officers for the Association for the ensuing year was one of the main functions of the meeting. Henrietta Green, Editor-elect of Brenau's Alchemist, was elected president; Dillard Mumford, editor-elect of the "Technique", vice-president; and Betty Donaldson, editor-elect of the G. S. C. W. Colonnade, secretary. Upon their arrival in Gainesville, the delegates registered and then attended platform speeches concerning "Moore Trends in Journalism". Speakers at these discussions included Editor Hardy of the "Gainesville News", and Professor W. M. Kempton of the University of Georgia Journalism Faculty. The delegates were entertained later in the afternoon at an informal tea by the Brenau students.

Brenau was hostess at a dance for the delegates on Friday night. The following morning discussions were (Continued on page three)

They say that every dog has his day, but it seems the seniors are going to have their week.

Last Wednesday the upper classmen commenced a period of fun and hilarity known as "Senior Week" by coming over and serenading the rest of the campus. Bonnie Burge and Katherine Hopkins were in charge of the serenading.

Friday marked the presentation of Ennis to the Juniors, whom the seniors entertained afterwards with a buffet supper. The class officers, Sue Thomason, Eleanor Berry, Tecosh Harner, Jean Armour, and Marguerite Spears made up the committee for this event.

Tonight there will be an open house honoring the seniors and their dates. Bet Taylor and Mary Hunt Marchman are in charge of the arrangements.

For Sunday morning, Eleanor Swann and Virginia Colquitt have made plans for a senior breakfast.

A picture show party is scheduled for Monday night with Margaret Garbutt and Lucy Caldwell in charge of the arrangements.

On Tuesday, it's "hang your clothes on a hickory limb but don't go near the water" for Lib Donovan and Beth Morrison have planned a picnic at the lake.

On Wednesday the seniors will revert to their childhood by celebrating Kid Day. The committee for this affair is Emma Lloyd Jenkins and Evelyn Howard.

As a climax to the week of celebrations, the Senior Play, "Hearts and Gowns" will be presented Wednesday night.

Scott Speaks On Radio Hour

Miss Katherine Scott, will be the principal speaker on the G. S. C. W. Radio Hour May 7 at 11 o'clock EST over WSB. Miss Scott is a member of the G. S. C. W. faculty and is the author of the Mansion Centennial Pageant, "The Mansion's Hundred Years."

The entire program will feature the Mansion Centennial Celebration, which will be climaxed on May 13 by a Pageant, an historic pilgrimage, and a dance.

Mrs. Paul Beeson will sing several of the old songs, carrying out the idea of the Centennial celebration.

Five of the students of G. S. C. W. who are the descendants of three of the governors who lived in the old Mansion will also take part on the program. They are Miss Betty Mitchell of Cusseta, Miss Martha Adams of Daviessboro, Miss Eva Abram of Savannah, Miss Gertrude Baker of Macon, and Miss Sara Hardee Atkinson. Miss Eva Abram, Miss Martha Adams, and Miss Betty Mitchell are the great-great granddaughters of David Bradley Mitchell, governor 1809-1817. Miss Baker is the great-great granddaughter of Herschel V. Johnson, governor 1883-87, and Miss Atkinson is the great great granddaughter of Governor Charles J. MacDonald 1839-42.

Cool, Simple Dresses Find Favor on Campus for Hot Days

If you are like I am, then you too are having difficulty in deciding what to wear these days. When you get up its nice and cool, so you decide the ever faithful skirt and shirt outfit will be just the thing, but then it isn't long until old man Sol has changed your point of view.

However, Melissa Horne doesn't seem to be having so very much trouble in deciding. She was looking quite sporty and comfy the other day in a London tan shantung made of simple lines. There were six little tan buttons set on each side of the waist and the same idea was carried out on the skirt, which was pleated, and on the short, loose sleeves. A small pointed collar of tan shantung finished off the neck, and Melissa wore a narrow London tan belt.

Katherine Kirkland is displaying her loyalty to the Navy in more ways than one these days; this time it's in a very attractive white blouse dress with black nautical designs on it. The skirt consists of many flared gores; the waist is made simply with a square neck and short sleeves that are scolloped. The only note of color is in the tricky little red buttons resembling ships.

Dot Simpson was wearing the thing the other day in Atlanta. It was a turpise, rough knit, two piece dress, with two small pockets on the waist and a narrow knit belt. Dot wore a silk scarf of the same color. The dress was set off by a wide brimmed turquoise hat of felt and white accessories.

Charlotte Howard is really going to get in the swim of things this year with that striking latest bathing suit she brought back with her last week-end. The suit is white and has brown spots resembling those of a leopard. It is truly remarkable how Charlotte always chooses just the clothes to suit her personality.

Seen The Cinemas

Monday and Tuesday brings us Belle Faucett of "In Old Chicago". Alice Faye, starting this time in "You're a Sweetheart" with George Murphy.

The story relates the woes of a theatrical producer who guesses wrong on his dates and can't open because of opposition. The producer, Ken Murray, hires George Murphy to pretend to be a millionaire who has purchased all the tickets to the show. The stunt is calculated to allow Murray to open on the scheduled date and also is a good publicity stunt. But Murphy falls in love with the show's star, Alice Faye, an unpredictable development, which leads to complication. A discharged press agent, a hard hearted creditor, a matter of a forged endorsement all strive to break the producer before he can get going. But he emerges victorious with everybody happy, and Murphy and Alice Faye in a big clinch at the fade-out.

For outdoor adventure, romance, and love excitement don't fail to see "Call of the Yukon", starring Richard Arlen, Beverly Roberts, and Lyle Talbot on Wednesday. The plot deals with the stirring adventures of Jean Williams, a writer, who journeys to Alaska to gather material for a story, and through her own stubbornness becomes stranded in the wastelands of snow and ice. She is forced to turn to a half civilized, cold blooded trapper for protection. Complications arise when a north-wood's trader arrives to try to take the girl back to civilization. Further complications set in as a result that both men fall in love with her. How this group settles down with the help of a beautiful dog, Swift Lightning, makes excellent fare.

Thursday and Friday the lovable Hardy family on parade in another amusing adventure, "Judge Hardy's Children". The new family comedy with Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Cecelia Parker and Fay Holden takes the family to Washington for hectic adventure in society among the lobbyists. Stone as Judge Hardy is named on a power commission. The family leaves its country home; the daughter, played by Mickey Rooney, falls in love with the daughter of a French diplomat, dons his first tuxedo and ends up in disgrace when elected from a fashionable dancing school for teaching the "Big Apple" to the youngsters.

Meanwhile the judge tells the plot of the lobbyists and the family returns to the country town of Carvel in triumph. The judge is named on a power commission. The family leaves its country home; the daughter, played by Mickey Rooney, falls in love with the daughter of a French diplomat, dons his first tuxedo and ends up in disgrace when elected from a fashionable dancing school for teaching the "Big Apple" to the youngsters.

Herty Award to Be Presented to Dr. Coates May 14

Dr. Charles Edward Coates, Dean Emeritus of Science at L. S. U. and outstanding chemist in the sugar industry, has been chosen as the recipient of the Herty medal this year. The award is made each year by the Chemistry Club at the Georgia State College for Women on the basis of outstanding achievement in Chemistry in the South. Herty day will be on May 13 this year.

Dr. Coates, a native of Maryland, came to L. S. U. in 1893 and was head of the chemistry division from that time until his retirement as Dean Emeritus on May 31, 1936. He holds the bachelor's and the doctor's degree from John Hopkins in 1891 and was appointed professor of chemistry at St. Johns college, Annapolis, where he remained for two years, or until his acceptance of the position as head of chemistry at L. S. U.

In addition to the dealership of chemistry at the University, Dr. Coates has also served as dean of the Audubon Sugar School, one of the best known divisions of the University and one which draws its students from all parts of the world. Dr. Coates, in addition to his prominence in the world of chemistry, was the organizer and coach of the football team at L. S. U. in 1893.

Dr. Coates is widely known in the world of science. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Society for Chemical Industry, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and a member of Scientific and honorary fraternities. He is a member of the research council of the National Farm Chemurgic council.

In the summer of 1936 he attended the International Congress of Sugar Cane Technologists and of chemical engineers held in London, England, having been selected by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the National Association of Sugar Cane Technologists to serve as one of the official representatives from the United States.

His most recent accomplishment has been his plan of remodeling the sugar factory of the L. S. U. Audubon Sugar School, which has been carried out this year with the cooperation of Dr. James M. Smith, president of L. S. U., and Governor Leche, and with the aid of the P. W. A.

The Standards of Pedagogy

BULLETIN No. 29, a report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, made public last week after much speculation, constitutes an endorsement of certain aspects of our educational system. Its recommendations are likely to continue for many a moon.

The findings, embodied in a tome of 406 pages, are based on examinations of 45,000 persons, of whom 26,000 were high school seniors and students at about fifty Pennsylvania colleges. The authors of the Bulletin are Dr. W. S. Learned, directorate of the Foundation and Dr. Ben D. Wood, of the faculty of Columbia University.

The most startling of the conclusions were these: 1, that in many cases seniors in colleges studying to be teachers, knew less than the high school students they were preparing to teach; and 2, that an extraordinary number of high school graduates who were unable financially to go to college had better trained minds than many of those who went to college.

Concerning the group preparing to be teachers, the report said: "The majority... exhibit inferiority in contrast with the non-teachers in nearly every department of study, and they show up badly when compared in the same tests with students four years below them who represent the educational problems with which they must be prepared to deal. The ability and attainment of those selected and prepared in special centers for that purpose are consistently and conspicuously below the level of the group as a whole."

As to the problem of college entrance, a survey showed that of 4,000 high school pupils who went on to college, 1,000 of those who matriculated scored below the average of all who did not go to college and that 3,000 who did not go to college exceeded the average of the 4,000 who did.

Allying to the "brilliant young minds that are left behind because they cannot pay college bills, the report says caustically:

"It does not make the situation less distressing to know that at the other end of the scale the college is accepting a large group who, even though they may pay full tuition, are still a drain on that surplus expenditure that a college incurs over and above what any student returns to it. In other words, both state subsidies and the income from endowments are today flowing in large amounts to individuals who might be replaced by more appropriate intellectual investments."

Vigorous as the report may be, it comes as no surprise to the world of higher education.

Only a few weeks ago Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, told the American Association of School Administrators, meeting at Atlantic City, that half the present students in our universities should be taken out and replaced with young men and women of less means and more talents.

He said relatively few young persons from families with total incomes of $2,000 or less or less go to college, yet eighty per cent of the families of the country are within that bracket. Hence, he said, "the college and professional schools have been fishing in one small pond... Unless the universities can supply scholarships with large stipends to boys without financial backing, they cannot 'cull' from every condition of our people the natural aristocracy of talent and virtue' to which Jefferson referred as the intellectual and moral hope of the country."

But that has ever been a complaint against formal procedure, and probably will continue to be, so long as college represents to so many young men and women and to so many parents an attendance which takes on an aura of social prestige.

Congratulations to The Debaters

The culmination of the activities of the Debating Society of this year in obtaining a chapter of Pi Kappa Delta for the G. S. C. W. campus is an achievement worthy of praise, long and loud.

G. S. C. W. is the only college in Georgia who has had a chapter of Pi Kappa Delta established on its campus. Pi Kappa Delta is the largest of the three national forensic fraternities in the country. The G. S. C. W. chapter has been named Alpha, and Nellie Jo Flynn, who has been an active member of the society this year, has been chosen president.

It is through the hard work of both the members of the debating society and Miss Helen Greene, the faculty advisor of the society, that the chapter has been obtained on the campus. Miss Greene, especially deserves credit for the achievement. Until recently, the debating society has been the stepchild of the campus, with nobody taking up very much time with it. Miss Greene and the several students interested in debating saw the opportunity for development in this field on our campus and made it of it. The results of their efforts are apparent both through the success with which they met during the season, and through the establishment of the Alpha chapter of Pi Kappa Delta on the campus.

And To Us

A general rule may have been laid down in the dim past by the journalistic powers that were to the effect that self-administered back patting was not in the best of taste in the editorial columns. After noting many examples of such in newspapers that would look down their noses at the humble Colonnade, it seems however to be pardonable to indulge in a little bit of verbal self satisfaction.

The Colonnade fell heir to the Cobb County Times Trophy for outstanding editorial accomplishment for this year. The trophy, awarded yearly by Mr. Chess Abernathy of Marietta, comes to us this year after being held by the Red and Black and The Emory Wheel for the two preceding years. Mr. Abernathy said that the award was made partly on the ground that the editorials had been unusually frank and outspoken this year.

Stories By Scandal-high

The fog has lifted but the memory (or something pretty strong) lingers on. What with $9-100 of the campus walking around in a daze, no one seems to have enough energy to make even a semi-intelligent pun. Spring fever seems to have taken the campus by storm, but instead of the usual thunder all we hear are sighs and snores.

Martha Donaldson evidently has taken it upon herself to set the styles for the campus. At any rate the shoes she wore to the Barrere Little Symphony didn't come out of Vogue. She was dressed up to the nines (from the ankle up) when she chanced to notice that she had forgotten to remove her bedroom shoes.

The art of spoonerizing was elevated to its true place in the sun by Miss Rogers recently. In one of her lab sessions last week she put her class into painfully silent stitches when she, with great dignity, instructed one of her students to "put a piece" instead of "put a piece" of something or other. It is history now, but it may be a prop to compare that masterpiece with Dr. Wells classic of some months ago, i. e., "filth and heaical education building" for health and physical education building.

A portrait is something that looks like you, and if it doesn't it's good. "Go ahead—see if I give a damn," muttered the cow to the milkmaid. "I must go down to the class again, go down to the class and cry. And all I ask is a kind word, and a C on the next exam." And a back row seat, and a dream that's sweet and grind that I can't pester. And time enough to smoke and see two movies a semester.

Recreation Association Activities

INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

Since OLD SOL has consented to spend a few hours longer each day, it gives everyone an opportunity to squeeze in some of the nice individual sports that we have looked forward to for such a long time. What more can you ask than a fast game of Paddle Tennis, or a snappy Badminton foursome? And remember to join in the tournament which will soon begin.

Folk Dancing

Folk Dancing—Monday, 5:00.
Archery—Monday, 5:00.
Individual sports—Every day.
Soft-Ball—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 5:00.
Beginners Golf—Tuesday, Friday 5:00.

Golf Club—Wednesday, 5:00.
Cottillon Club—Friday, 4:00.
Social Dancing—Thursday, 5:00.
Tennis Club—Thursday—4:15.
Hiking—Wednesday, Saturday 5:00.

Soft-Ball

The past few weeks have been full of fun for the soft-ball group and that fun is not going to stop soon either. It still isn't too late for you to join a team, or better still, get up a team of your own.

The present group is planning a tournament with all the "strikes", home runs and all the other familiar soft-ball terms included, so let's see you out there playing and cheering your team.

Tennis

The brackets are up and the first round of the tennis tournament should be off by now. All players who have matches to be played in the second bracket please do so by Wednesday, May 11. As you win, place your name on the bracket in Bell Annex gymnasium, and keep up that good form that we are so constantly being exposed to.

Golf

Since "the tournament is the thing" the golden on the campus are not to be an exception. The plan is to have a Scotch tournament which involves the use of only a minimum amount of golf equipment—one bag, etc. The tournament is open to everyone who signs up for it and you'd better hurry to sign before it's too late. Your chance is just as good as that roommate of yours!

Did you know that the folk group has planned a day for a FOLK FESTIVAL? That alone should be enough to interest you, but there's another surprise in the plans of this group which includes fun for the entire student body. It's impossible to disclose this secret just now, but watch this column because it means a great time for everyone!

Outing Club

The Recreation Association is happy to announce that out of the efforts on the part of Nell Smith and her hiking group an OUTING CLUB has been organized. The club plans in addition to hiking around the immediate vicinity, to make a number of over-night hikes, the first scheduled being the G. S. C. W. camp on May 14.

The Recreation Association is happy to announce that out of the efforts on the part of Nell Smith and her hiking group an OUTING CLUB has been organized. The club plans in addition to hiking around the immediate vicinity, to make a number of over-night hikes, the first scheduled being the G. S. C. W. camp on May 14.

The following students have been admitted for membership and will act as a nucleus of the club:

Isabel Adams, Dorothy Aultman, Dorothy Avant, Billie Berry, Emily Cheves, Betty Hayes, Dot Peacock, Florence Phillips, Nell Smith. Ten more will be admitted during Fall Quarter.

The Clemson Tiger carries this story: Of course you've heard about the slightly inebriated gentleman who staggered up to the hotel desk and asked for two rooms, one right across the hall from the other. When questioned about this very unusual request he informed the clerk that if anything happened to him he'd be right across the hall.

Y. W. C. A. Names New Advisory Group For Next Year

The newly elected Y. W. C. A. Advisory Board held its first meeting on May 4 to discuss matters of policy for the Y. W. C. A. Financial membership, manner of election of officers, and national affiliations were a few of the more important Y problems which were discussed.

The members of Advisory Board for the year of 1938-39 are: Ex-Officio: Pres. Wells, Dean Taylor, Dean Adams, Alumnae Secretary Hardy, and the Y. W. C. A. Secretary; Life Manager, Miss Napier; Trust Minister, Rev. Rufus Oakley; Faculty members: Dr. Bolton, Mr. Capel, Mr. Massey, Dr. Walden, Miss Sutton, Dr. Manchester, and Miss Horsburgh.

Pres., Catherine Reddick; Senior Class Pres., Sara Bethel; Junior Class Pres., Harriet Hudson; Colonnade Editor, Betty Donaldson; Spectrum Editor, Mattie Lee Stapleton; Corinthian Editor, Margaret Weaver; Sophomore Commission Pres., To Be Elected; Freshman Council Pres., To Be Elected.

The Colonnade was represented by Lucy Caldwell, retiring editor of the Colonnade, Betty Donaldson, editor-elect, and Dot Howell, business manager.

The convention was culminated by a luncheon presided over by Dr. Brigham of the Brenau faculty. The awards were made at this meeting.

Warren Duffie of Emory, retiring president of the G. S. R. C. A. presided over all business meetings during the convention.

"LONG, LONG AGO"

A Tableaux-Pageant Depicting Scenes from 1838 to 1838
Arranged by Nelle Womack Hines
Admission 25 Cents, Students and Children, 15 Cents

G. S. C. W. Auditorium, May 12th, 9 P. M.

Admission 25 Cents, Students and Children, 15 Cents

Tableau I—"Sleepy Time in the Big House".

The day is over. "Little Mistress", attended by Mammy Laura and her own little maid, resists the Sandman as long as possible. The sound of singing comes from the slave quarters as these faithful workers rest after a day in the cotton field.

Tableau II—"Little Mistress has a Tea-party".

Each "Little mother" wants her child to have a good time at the tea-party. Mammy is also at hand to look after her "chile".

Tableau III—"The Mastle".

A group of music lovers gather in a Milledgeville home to spend a pleasant evening. Sidney Lanier, a student at Old Oglethorpe University, is present and accompanies one of the singers with his flute.

Tableau IV—"Off to the War".

The four years of the War Between the States will be represented by four scenes: One—Tramp, Tramp, Tramp; Two—Tenting Tonight; Three—Masses in the Cold, Cold Ground; Four—Old Folks at Home.

Intermission represents the passing of twenty years.

Tableau V—"Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party".

A quilting bee brought all the neighborhood together. After the quilt is finished, it's time for ginger cakes and apple cider. In the meantime, one of the neighbor's daughters slips out to walk home with her beau—who is "seeing Nelly Home".

Tableau VI—"The Dancing Class".

Offtimes, in the olden days, the dancing master would carry along his "fiddle" and instruct his young pupils while he played the tune.

Tableau VII—"Tucky Barn Dance and Candy Pulling".

The day was never too long nor the work too strenuous to keep the folks of the neighborhood from gathering for an evening of fun and frolic. The Barn Dance was a favorite, especially if it was "lucky".

Tableau VIII—"An Evening at Home".

In the Gay Nineties parents and friends gathered for an evening to enjoy the "accomplishments" of their daughters. Although Bach and Beethoven were admired, popular music of the day included "The Maiden's Prayer" and "In the Gloaming".

Tableau IX—"May Day Night".

The May Queen had been crowned and the court gathered in the evening to do her honor. After singing some of the popular songs of the day "A Bicycle Built for Two" and "Little Annie Rooney", waltzing was in order, to the tune of the Blue Danube.

Tableau X—"An Afternoon Tea in 1838".

The times in which mother, grandmother and great-grandmother lived had their charm, but a group of "moderns" arrayed in their best for an afternoon tea presents a picture the beauty of which cannot be denied. However, one sees them looking back to borrow the hoop-skirt fullness of Great-grandmother and the Gay-Ninety period is lending smart ideas to our modern Miss.

Tableau XI—"The Quilting Party"—will be staged by the members of the Woman's Farm Market and the Meriwether Community Club.

Tableau XII—"A Quilting Party in 1838" will be staged by the Lawrence Flower Shop.

150 Milledgeville and Baldwin County people will take part in the Tableaux-pageant on Thursday evening, and the hour of 9 P. M. is set because the pilgrimage closes at six, and this will give all time to have their evening meal and change costumes with no rush.

Everyone is invited and the doors will open at 8:15—GSCW students will act as ushers.

A special invisible chorus furnishes back ground music for each tableau.

The Purchase & Sales Co. has co-operated by lending the furniture for this entertainment.

Symphony Orchestra Ends Tour at GSC Auditorium

Concludes Tour with Concert Friday Night at 8:30

Returning here Friday, the G. S. C. W. Symphony Orchestra concluded a tour with a concert in Russell Auditorium Friday night at 8:30 P. M. The orchestra is directed by Mr. Frank D'Andrea.

The orchestra left here on tour Tuesday and gave its first concert in Athens that night in the chapel of the University of Georgia. Going to Atlanta Wednesday, the concert was held in that city under the sponsorship of the Atlanta G. S. C. W. club.

Thursday night, the orchestra gave a concert at Wesleyan Conservatory in Macon.

Mrs. W. H. Allen accompanied the orchestra as guest artist and gave a piano selection.

Director D'Andrea said that the orchestra was a full symphony orchestra, with a number of unusual instruments, such as the oboe and bassoon, being included.

Critics have been loud in praise of the orchestra, and Mr. D'Andrea's fine work in its direction.

The full personnel of the orchestra includes: Edwin Allen, May Jo Baldwin, Nell Berry, Josephine Bone, Laurette Bone, Margaret Booth, Mary Willie Bowen, Edith Bray, Janet Bryan, Martha Cantor, Catherine Cox, Edith Rixon, Grace Drewry, Dorothy Fisher, Margaret Florence, Mary Ford, Helen Foster, Marjorie Futch, Nan Gardner, Drue Elyn Gibbs, Vivian Gregory, Flora Haynes, Doris Hendrix, Virginia Ann Holder, Beatrice Hornbrugh, Emma Loyd Jenkins, Gladys Johnson, Margaret Keel, Margaret Kuhn, Elizabeth Ledbetter, Sara Lewis, Fannie Virginia McClure, Lois McCrary, Evelyn Moore, Callie Morris, Martha Moseley, Helen Mumford, Max Noah, Frances Nunn, Frances Pendleton, Karin Phister, Joyce Roberts, Katie Roberts, Emily Rowan, Frances Scott, Eugenia Shy, Leonard Silverstein, Florence Stapleton, Eugenia Steed, Mary Stokes, Olivia Strickland, Grace Talley, Margaret Weaver, Saralyn Wooten, and Martha Zachary.
